

COURSE ONE

Effortless SUCCESS

LIVING THE LAW OF ATTRACTION

Activating the Law of Attraction

Jack Canfield
with Paul R. Scheele

Course One

Activating the Law of Attraction

In Course One of the Effortless Success program, you will learn core principles and practices for activating the Law of Attraction in your life. Success happens from the inside out, so becoming familiar with your own inner guidance is essential. Throughout this course you will often be directed inward—to recognize your life purpose, to find symbols that inspire you and give you direction, to discover your dreams and passions, to shape and evaluate each day's actions, and much more. By connecting with this inner guidance, you will feel confident and excited about where you are headed and clear about how to get there. You will find the universe eagerly supporting you, wherever you direct your intentions and your attention.

Listening and responding to what the universe offers is another essential part of achieving success. Noticing and trusting what emerges around you, focusing on solutions rather than problems, and seeking feedback about your plans all keep you aligned with the Law of Attraction and the Law of Least Effort.

Your emotions also play a key role. Powerful positive emotions propel you into action and generate a supportive response from those around you and from the whole universe. Using the tools in this course, you will be able to release difficult emotions and generate positive ones to help propel you toward effortless success.

To gain the greatest benefit from your Effortless Success program, be sure to listen to the supporting audio recordings that come with Course One. Listen to the Paraliminal Asking several times during the first week of study, then once a week thereafter. For extra inspiration and guidance on living the Law of Attraction, listen to the Q/A: Effortless Success Basics CD. Use the Fast Finish recording for a quick review—or preview—of everything in Course One.

Introduction

Contents

Inner Wisdom Meditation	24
Life Purpose Meditation	25
Share Your Life Purpose	26
Summary	27

Session 1: Receive Inspiration

We invite you to begin a journey with us—to activate the Law of Attraction by receiving inspiration.

This means going inward. You can gently access inner guidance in several ways. One is to find personal symbols of success that inspire you. Another is to discover your life purpose. These lay a foundation for the remaining stages in activating the Law of Attraction—forming intention, taking action, and experiencing growth.

Going inward gives you clarity about where you are going and how to get there. You “tune in” to a source of guidance that goes by many names—God, spirit, higher power, inner guide, intuition, inspiration. The name does not matter. What does matter is to access the guidance available to you at any time.

Exercise

CD 1, Track 3

The image you received symbolizes an answer that can help you more fully engage the Law of Attraction and enjoy more effortless success in your life. Contemplate its meaning, engage it in a dialogue, carry it with you as an object, and incorporate it into your life.

Inner Wisdom Meditation

Use the space below to describe the symbol you received during the meditation. You can describe the symbol in words or by drawing a picture—or, if your learning style is auditory, you might even include musical notation. The messages you receive are intended for you personally and come in the most appropriate medium for your style of perception.

Exercise

CD 1, Track 6

Consider finding an object that represents the life purpose symbol you received in the meditation. When you look at that image, you can be inspired by your purpose, feel connected to it, and manifest your purpose more fully in your life.

"I learned to question whatever showed up in my life—to ask myself what is this opportunity, what is trying to emerge here? And instead of resisting change and growth, I've always been seeking it and willing to cooperate with it."

*Jack Canfield

All subsequent text within quotation marks not attributed to anyone comes from Jack Canfield or Paul Scheele.*

Life Purpose Meditation

What I experienced:

[illegible]

Exercise
CD 1, Track 7

Share Your Life Purpose

When you are clear about your life purpose:

- ☐ Write it down, so you capture and do not lose it.

My life purpose is _____

- ☐ Share your life purpose statement with somebody you feel connected to and who will give you encouragement.

I will share my purpose with _____
By this date _____

- ☐ Listen to yourself articulate your life purpose aloud.

- ☐ Experience your purpose gaining clarity and becoming more real to you.

Summary

Receiving Inspiration

Develop daily disciplines

Get into the habit of engaging in short, daily sessions devoted to your life purpose and goals. You might spend three minutes reviewing your goals in the morning or 10 to 15 minutes completing one page of a novel you always dreamed of writing. While almost effortless, the daily disciplines you choose to complete in the course of your day can bring huge results over time.

Travel to higher levels

Set aside time for meditation daily or on a regular basis to access your inner wisdom. Tuning into a higher level of consciousness will more effectively guide you toward achieving and fulfilling your highest purpose.

Benefit from processional effects

Follow your intuitive impulses and benefit from what Buckminster Fuller called processional effects. By following your internal guidance and taking committed action that aligns with your highest good and the good of others, you experience results above and beyond your original intent or desire.

Pay attention to what you are feeling

Your internal guidance system provides feedback to let you know whether or not you are on course to fulfilling your purpose. Feeling a deep sense of joy or contentment, for instance, tells you your actions are aligned with what you are here to do, experience, or express in the world. Feelings of discomfort or physical pain, on the other hand, can be sending a message that your life is off course.

Keep the essence of your life purpose

As you live your purpose you may sense its form changing over time. Its core, however, is not likely to change but rather to unfold as you gain a deeper awareness of your purpose over time. The essence of your purpose remains while the qualities you bring forward into the world expand.

Introduction

Contents

Irritations List	29
101 Goals and Dreams	31
Clear Vision Meditation	37
Legacy Goal	40
Come-As-You'll-Be Party	41
Dreams and Affirmations	42
Mirror Exercise	44
Summary	45

Session 2: Form Intention

The next stage in activating the Law of Attraction is to form clear, specific intentions that support your purpose. Flesh out your dreams by adding details about when, how, and where you will take action on your inspiration. Then the universe can respond accordingly.

This means translating your inner guidance into goals, which are usually expressed in words. Words form a bridge between the invisible world of thought and the visible world of people, things, and events. When you do this, circumstances fall into place. Resources become available.

You can also express your intention through images, literally creating a vision of what you want to become. Exercises in this session of the course help you to richly imagine what you will see, hear, feel, and do when living in alignment with your inspiration.

To help you form your intentions and stay motivated, this session will guide you to:

- Clear away “irritations” that bog you down.
- Dream a long list of big, positive, detailed dreams.
- Create a vision for four major dimensions in your life.
- Write effective affirmations to keep you focused and attract your vision to you.
- Have a “Come-As-You’ll-Be” Party to act out your realized vision.
- Build your self-esteem nightly by appreciating and loving yourself.

These activities allow you to be a deliberate creator of your life. As you do them, you will find pursuing your dreams to be exciting and easier than you think.

Begin the irritations list by making a “T-chart.” To the left of the stem of the “T,” you will list irritations. To the right, you will write your goals. Now...

- ❑ Go through your house, your office, your garage, your car, your attic, your basement—any place where you have control—and make a list of all the things that are not exactly the way you want them to be.
- ❑ List the irritations on the left side of your T-chart.
- ❑ To the right of the irritations, list conditions you want to have in their place.
- ❑ Schedule time for a “blitz day” to fix as much as possible, preferably with the help of friends.
- ❑ Schedule fixing big messes at least once a quarter.

[illegible]

“While these are not the big save-the-world, bring-world peace, make-a-million-dollars kind of goals, it’s getting me out of this place of resignation, of settling for not having what I want.”

[illegible][illegible]

Exercise

CD 2, Tracks 1 and 2

101 Goals and Dreams

Use the following space to list 101 goals and dreams. Do not be afraid to dream big. And do not worry if you stop short of 101 dreams (or if you have more than 101). As you review the list periodically, you can always add more dreams. The most important criteria for stating a dream are:

- Feel your passion about achieving this dream.
- Be very specific and detailed.
- Be positive—state what you want to have, not what you want to eliminate or avoid.

“Everyone wants their dreams to come true but, obviously, you can’t have a dream come true unless you have a dream. And so we have to really take some time to sit down and acknowledge our dreams.”

- 1) _____
- 2) _____
- 3) _____
- 4) _____
- 5) _____
- 6) _____
- 7) _____
- 8) _____
- 9) _____
- 10) _____
- 11) _____
- 12) _____
- 13) _____
- 14) _____
- 15) _____

101 Goals
and Dreams
(continued)

“We’re going to focus on asking and really getting clear and specific so that we have a very defined list of the things that we want to bring forward into our life—what we want to do, what we want to be, and what we want to have.”

Keep dreaming in detail (and technicolor)...

- 16) _____
- 17) _____
- 18) _____
- 19) _____
- 20) _____
- 21) _____
- 22) _____
- 23) _____
- 24) _____
- 25) _____
- 26) _____
- 27) _____
- 28) _____
- 29) _____
- 30) _____
- 31) _____
- 32) _____
- 33) _____
- 34) _____
- 35) _____
- 36) _____
- 37) _____
- 38) _____
- 39) _____
- 40) _____

101 Goals
and Dreams
(continued)

Dream BIG dreams...

- 41) _____
- 42) _____
- 43) _____
- 44) _____
- 45) _____
- 46) _____
- 47) _____
- 48) _____
- 49) _____
- 50) _____
- 51) _____
- 52) _____
- 53) _____
- 54) _____
- 55) _____
- 56) _____
- 57) _____
- 58) _____
- 59) _____
- 60) _____
- 61) _____
- 62) _____
- 63) _____
- 64) _____
- 65) _____

“Once you set goals, it’s really valuable to go back and review them over and over.”

101 Goals
and Dreams
(continued)

“The universe does not hear the word don’t or not. It only hears the specificity of the order, and it feels the feelings you feel when you think about those kinds of qualities—what you want to have and not what you don’t want to have.”

Keep your dreaming positive...

- 66) _____
- 67) _____
- 68) _____
- 69) _____
- 70) _____
- 71) _____
- 72) _____
- 73) _____
- 74) _____
- 75) _____
- 76) _____
- 77) _____
- 78) _____
- 79) _____
- 80) _____
- 81) _____
- 82) _____
- 83) _____
- 84) _____
- 85) _____
- 86) _____
- 87) _____
- 88) _____
- 89) _____
- 90) _____

101 Goals
and Dreams
(continued)

Never stop dreaming...

- 91) _____
- 92) _____
- 93) _____
- 94) _____
- 95) _____
- 96) _____
- 97) _____
- 98) _____
- 99) _____
- 100) _____
- 101) _____

Congratulations on completing your list of dreams. When you are directed to do so, come back to this Guidebook and follow the instructions on the next page to help you review and, if necessary, rephrase your dreams.

101 Goals
and Dreams
(continued)

Frequently review your dreams

As you review your list of dreams, use the following spaces to rephrase any that are stated in the negative. A negative dream generates negative emotions, and these emotions will attract more negativity into your life rather than bringing you what you really dream of having. For example, a negative dream such as “I want a house that isn’t so cramped” could be rephrased as “I see myself and my spouse and two children living in a 2,500-square-foot, beautifully landscaped, two-story colonial house in a residential part of Philadelphia.”

Positive rephrasing of # ____.

Positive rephrasing of # ____.

Positive rephrasing of # ____.

Positive rephrasing of # ____.

Positive rephrasing of # ____.

Positive rephrasing of # ____.

Exercise

CD 2, Track 3

Clear Vision Meditation

You significantly increase your ability to remember your experiences during the meditation by recording them as soon as possible after the exercise. Use the spaces that follow to describe what you experienced in each area. Use any technique that seems appropriate to your experience—descriptive writing, poetry, drawings, or even musical notation.

My experiences in the success dimension:

Clear Vision Meditation
(continued)

My experiences in the health dimension:

My experiences in the relationship dimension:

Clear Vision Meditation
(continued)

“When you share your vision, it becomes more real to you. People listening to it nine times out of ten say, ‘Yeah, right on—good. And me, too; I want the same thing.’ Then you feel joined and supported.”

My experiences in the personal growth dimension:

Congratulations on recording your experiences to make them more real and more memorable. For even more powerful results, share your experiences with someone you trust.

CD 2, Track 3

As you grow personally, you increase your ability to transform the world around you. In your ideal life, what kind of contribution would you make to the world? How do you want to make a difference? Will you plant a hundred trees in your local park? Work to end poverty and hunger? Be a big brother or sister to a child who needs a parental figure in their life?

[illegible]

Exercise

CD 2, Track 5

Come-As-You'll-Be Party

Give a Come-As-You'll-Be Party to energize your dreams. Plan your party as follows:

- ☐ Invite a group of your friends or colleagues. You can do this as a personal gathering or as a business get-together.
- ☐ On the invitation write something like, “Come as the person you will be five years from now when you have achieved your goals.”
- ☐ Date the invitation five years from the time of the party.
- ☐ Encourage people to bring props and to dress as their vision of themselves in five years.

“When I had my first Come-As-You'll-Be Party, my desire was to write some books, but I had not yet started writing. So I made book covers for the books and walked around sharing what I had done. It's an amazingly high experience.”

Exercise

CD 2, Track 5

Dreams and Affirmations

Identify five of your most important dreams and write an affirmation for each one. Remember the rules for writing affirmations:

- Start with “I am” to bring it into the present tense.
- Make a positive statement.
- Use an action verb.
- Keep the statement brief and concise.
- Include at least one feeling word that reflects the emotion of having achieved the goal.
- Make affirmations for yourself only, not others.

Dream #1: _____

Affirmation: I am _____

Dream #2: _____

Affirmation: I am _____

Dreams and Affirmations
(continued)

Dream #3: _____

Affirmation: I am _____

Dream #4: _____

Affirmation: I am _____

Dream #5: _____

Affirmation: I am _____

Congratulations on writing affirmations for five dreams. Writing your affirmations makes them more real and clarifies them. Say these affirmations aloud, with feeling, at least once a day for at least the next thirty days.

Exercise

CD 2, Track 6

Mirror Exercise

Do the Mirror Exercise every night before going to bed, and appreciate yourself for all the things you did that day. This enhances your self-esteem and builds the habit of focusing on your successes rather than what is not working. Remember, you will get more of what you focus on!

Follow these steps:

Step 1: Stand in front of the mirror.

Step 2: Say to yourself, “____ (Your name) _____, I want to appreciate you for doing this, doing that, doing this, doing that....”

Step 3: As you finish, look right into your eyes and say, “I love you.” Then pause, take a deep breath, and let that in. For many people this is very challenging to do. But when you are able to let in self-love, you increase your ability to let in more love from other people, because you cannot let in more love from others than you are able to receive from yourself.

Summary

Forming Intention

Envision in four dimensions

Envision goals in the four primary areas of success, relationships, health, and personal growth. These might include financial, job-career-profession, relationships, health and physical well-being, recreation, personal growth, and contribution or legacy.

Create at least one affirmation per goal

Create one powerful affirmation for every goal or dream on your list.

Follow the affirmation guidelines

- Start with “I am” to get into present tense.
- Make a positive statement.
- Use an action verb.
- Keep it brief and concise.
- Include at least one feeling word.
- Make affirmations for yourself only, not others.

Motivate with an image

Reinforce what you want or desire through images, pictures, and statements that strengthen and empower it. The stronger the image, the greater the vibration it sends to the universe so the Law of Attraction can work to fulfill it.

Repeat your affirmations every day for 30 days

Recite your affirmations twice daily, in the morning and in the evening. Record them on three-by-five cards, in your calendar, PDA, or smart phone, or on a computer screen saver so you can easily access them every day. Repeating them every day for 30 days optimizes their effectiveness and locks them into your long-term memory.

Affirm yourself

Acknowledge yourself for who you are. Do the mirror exercise often to affirm all of your wonderful attributes.

Introduction

Contents

Breakthrough Goal	47
Rule of Five	48
Visualization Guidelines	49
Creating Your Day Meditation	50
Mind Mapping an Action Plan	53
Visualization Tools	54
Emotional Scale	55
The Sedona Method	56
Resources for Releasing	57
Summary	58

Session 3: Take Action

The first two sessions of this course are all about thinking big—opening to inspiration, dreaming big dreams, writing big goals. To realize these dreams requires making day-by-day choices about actions to take. The inner guidance you used to determine your life purpose and vision for the various dimensions of your life is the same tool you will use when deciding what actions to take on a daily basis.

Powerful positive emotions such as joy, peace, and enthusiasm support us in achieving success. You can use affirmations and other methods described in this course to help you generate these emotions. If difficult emotional states arise, you do not have to be a victim of your feelings. The Sedona Method, which is included here, will give you steps to release unpleasant emotions.

In this session you will learn Creating Your Day, an action-planning process to start each day. You will also find two bonus activities not covered in the audio recordings to support your envisioning process and action planning. They are:

- Mind mapping your action plan to chunk your goals into manageable segments.
- Creating a vision board or dream book to provide an ongoing visual reminder of your intentions.

All of these tools provide ways to create a clear path for inspired action. With the ability to create your day and support your intentions with visual symbols and powerful emotions, you will discover each day how effortless living your life purpose can be.

Exercise

CD 3, Track 2

This goal is optional now.
You will cover it in-depth in Course Two.

Breakthrough Goal

What goal would really stretch you and represent a quantum leap?
The achievement of this goal would change everything. It will change your life, bring you new opportunities, get you in front of the right people, and take every activity, relationship, or group you're involved in to a higher level. Wouldn't this be a goal worth pursuing with passion?

My breakthrough goal:

Exercise
CD 3, Track 2

Rule of Five

Once you establish your breakthrough goal, use the Rule of Five to help you achieve it. Each day do five specific action steps that move you closer to your breakthrough goal.

My five action steps for today are:

- 1) _____

- 2) _____

- 3) _____

- 4) _____

- 5) _____

Visualization Guidelines

When we visualize, we activate the creative powers of the unconscious mind. Visualization focuses your brain by programming its reticular activating system to notice available resources that were always there but were previously unnoticed. It also creates new levels of emotional attachment to your goal.

When we visualize, we close our eyes and see the image of our goal as if it is already achieved. We add the feeling component along with the sounds, smells, and tastes that might be associated with this goal. This magnetizes and attracts to you the people, resources, and opportunities you need to achieve your goal.

The Creating Your Day exercise that follows is a great way to use visualization on a daily basis to focus your attention on what you want to accomplish.

Exercise
CD 3, Track 4

Creating Your Day Meditation

After visualizing your ideal day, record below what you experienced and what you plan to create today.

Significant images I experienced:

Qualities I choose to manifest:

Creating Your Day
Meditation
(continued)

My inspired intentions:

Actions I will take in each dimension:

Financial Success:

Health and Fitness:

“Having a written blueprint greatly increases the likelihood that you will create the day you visualized.”

Creating Your Day
Meditation
(continued)

“Are you ready to live the day you created in your visualization?”

Relationships:

Personal Growth:

Exercise

Guidebook Only

Mind Mapping an Action Plan

To further your goals and create an action plan for your day, you can use the right-brain technique of mind mapping.

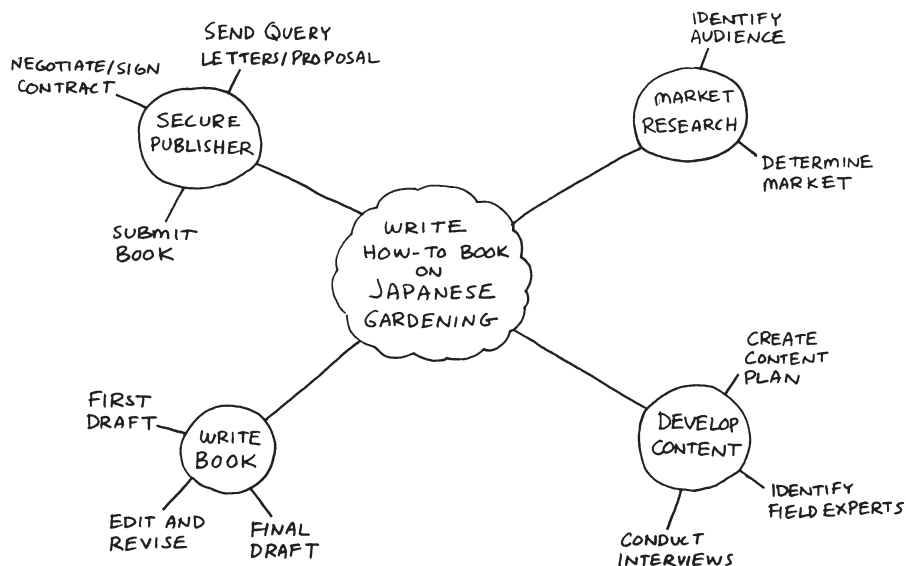

For each goal you want to consider, follow these instructions to “chunk it down” into manageable steps within your action plan:

Step 1: Put the goal in the middle of the page.

Step 2: Draw arrows from the goal to “chunks” of the goal (e.g., chapters of a book, divisions of a business).

Step 3: Draw lines out from each chunk to actions that support it (e.g., content of the book’s chapters)

Step 4: Draft a list that puts the chunks, steps, and action items in sequential order.

ACTION PLAN

MARKET RESEARCH: MONTHS 1 AND 2
DEVELOP CONTENT: MONTHS 2 AND 3
WRITE BOOK: MONTHS 4 THROUGH 7
SECURE PUBLISHER: MONTH 6

Exercise

Guidebook Only

“When we’re visualizing internally, there are all kinds of things that come into our consciousness. It’s very valuable to capture these externally so when we’re not inside, which is the majority of the time, we’re being reminded of what it is we were focusing on. One of the most powerful tools for that is called a vision board.”

Visualization Tools

Create a vision board

A vision board is a collage of experiences you want to have, things you want to own and buy, places you want to go, and successes you want to experience. Once you create your vision board, you can take a photograph of it to carry around with you. Create yours as follows:

- ☐ Get a big piece of poster board.
- ☐ Place words on it describing qualities you want to experience such as love, joy, and passion.
- ☐ Add pictures of things you want to be experiencing and achieving.

Create a dream book

When you are traveling and cannot carry a big vision board with you, take a dream book instead. Leaf through it every day to stay focused on your dreams. Create your dream book as follows:

- ☐ Use a notebook or three-ring binder.
- ☐ On each page put an image of something you want. Add inspiring words.

Additional Tools

It’s important to anchor your vision in the present and keep it vibrant. Here are other tools you can use to keep your vision fresh in your mind:

- Write it down in a journal.
- Use affirmations and engage in positive self-talk.
- Do daily visualizations.
- Draw pictures or create success symbols.
- Use mind mapping.
- Keep a victory log.
- Regularly review and update your goals.
- Do the Daily Review exercise.
- Develop or join a mastermind group.
- Get an accountability partner.

Exercise

This scale will be explored further in Course Two.

INCREASING VIBRATION

Emotional Scale

The Emotional Scale below reflects an increasing level of energy vibration, from the low-energy feelings such as guilt, fear, and depression in Level 1 to the high-energy feelings such as joy, love, and passion in Level 10. When you learn how to successfully let go of the low-energy feelings of one level, you will uncover the feelings of the next higher level, moving up the Emotional Scale. As you practice and become skilled at this, your life experience will be more positive, and everything about your life will seem easier.

Level 10: joy, appreciation, empowerment, freedom, love, passion

Level 9: enthusiasm, eagerness, happiness

Level 8: positive expectation, belief, optimism

Level 7: hopefulness, contentment

Level 6: boredom, pessimism

Level 5: frustration, irritation, impatience, feeling overwhelmed

Level 4: disappointment, doubt

Level 3: worry, blame, discouragement

Level 2: anger, revenge, hatred, jealousy, rage

Level 1: insecurity, guilt, unworthiness, fear, grief, depression, despair, powerlessness

Exercise

CD 3, Track 5

“If we trust that the universe is always bringing the experiences we need to have and the experiences that will help us grow, then we have to trust that as the feeling moves through, the next thing that comes will be just as useful, valuable, and wonderful for our evolution.”

The Sedona Method

When you are not feeling good about an emotion you are experiencing, you can use Hale Dwoskin’s The Sedona Method to release it:

- Step 1: Close your eyes, go inside, and ask yourself what you are feeling.
- Step 2: Welcome the feeling you have identified. Ask yourself, “Can I welcome this feeling as best I can?”
- Step 3: After experiencing the feeling deeply for a time, ask yourself, “Could I let this feeling go?”
- Step 4: Then ask yourself, “Would I let this feeling go?” Give yourself some time to determine you are truly willing to let the feeling go.
- Step 5: Finally, ask yourself, “When?”
- Step 6: Repeat the process as many times as necessary to feel completely emptied of the feeling.

Resources for Releasing

The following tools from your course can also be used to release negative self-talk, emotions, or thoughts that are preventing or slowing your progress toward your dreams:

Solutions Focus (Course One, Session 4)

Move Your Emotions up the Emotional Scale
(Course Two, Session 1)

List Actions That Make You Feel Good
(Course Two, Session 1)

Identify Your Hidden Feelings (Course Two, Session 1)

Turn Around Your Limiting Beliefs (Course Two, Session 1)

Internal Guidance System (Course Two, Session 2)

Stomp Out Those ANTs (Course Two, Session 2)

Disidentification Meditation (Course Two, CD 6)

Consider these additional resources found in other courses from Learning Strategies:

Inquiry Process from Byron Katie (Abundance for Life)

Feelings Exercise from Arnold Patent (Abundance for Life)

Space Clearing (Diamond Feng Shui)

Energy Dowsing (Diamond Dowsing)

Ho'oponopono (Happy for No Reason)

Emotional Freedom Technique by Gary Craig
(Happy for No Reason)

Summary

Taking Action

Add visualizations to affirmations

Make it a daily discipline to add visualizations when creating and reciting your affirmations. They serve as a command to your unconscious mind to find ways to make your vision come true.

Act on your inspirations

After you create your intention and begin moving toward your vision, heighten your level of awareness. When you are in alignment with your life purpose, you are likely to receive inspirations more often and from more sources. It is important you act on your intuition and these inspirations.

Chunk it down

Break every goal into smaller steps. Create an action plan or master plan for how you are going to achieve the goal.

Be accountable to a partner

Find an “accountability partner” with whom you can safely share your goals and dreams. Knowing you have to report to another person can give you added motivation to complete your tasks and objectives.

Create a Mastermind Group

Create a group with six or eight people (including your accountability partner) that can serve as a support network and sounding board. Gather together in person or by conference call to discuss your goals and your progress. Share new ideas, resources, or anything you have come across that could help other members. Encourage members to ask questions of each other.

Yield to the process

Avoid viewing the obstacles in your life as stop signs. They are more like yield signs. As you take action and begin moving energy into the world, the energy of the world may begin pushing back against you. Join with the process—yield to it. It’s a lot easier to float with the current than to paddle against it.

Summary
(continued)

Be 100 percent responsible for your life

Taking greater responsibility for your life gives you greater control. When something does not work out the way you want it to, stop and ask why: “How did I create that? How did I allow that to happen?”

Move up the scale of emotions

Take responsibility for creating the feelings and emotions that will bring you into alignment with producing the result you want.

Overcome fear by taking action

Be willing to take action. Most people take the “Ready, aim, fire” approach to life. Adopt the “Ready, fire, now aim” approach instead. Remember, fear is False Evidence Appearing Real.

Introduction

Contents

Daily Review
Meditation	61
Solutions Focus	64
MTO Approach	66
20 Things I Love to Do	67
Jack's Daily
Disciplines	70
Summary	71
Moving Forward	72

Session 4: Experience Growth

The universe is designed to support your success. When you stay alert to the clues and resources the universe is continually providing, things become easier for you. Trust what emerges. In the coming days and weeks, you will find yourself thinking new thoughts, feeling new feelings, and taking new actions. These attract new results into your life.

This session supports this process with a variety of exercises. The following two exercises will be particularly helpful for aligning yourself with the Law of Least Effort and making improvements as you move toward your vision:

- The Daily Review: Your evening check-in to celebrate successes and listen for guidance about what would work better.
- 20 Things I Love to Do: An exercise to explore how to generate income doing what you enjoy.

What you focus on is what you attract. This session shows you how to use the Solutions Focus rating technique to get clarity on what is working so you can do more of it. You will also set your goals at three different levels by using the MTO approach—minimum, target, and outrageous—to generate needed momentum, especially when you are working with a goal that seems huge and intimidating.

When you trust that life is always bringing you the experiences you need in order to grow, then you see everything differently. People you used to resent now offer opportunities to practice nonjudgment. Things you used to call problems are now chances to find solutions. The next thing that happens to you today—pleasant or unpleasant—could usher in the next stage of your personal growth.

Exercise

CD 4, Track 2

Daily Review Meditation

Use the lines below to record your successes during the day, including actions, thoughts, and qualities of being. (Feel free to make copies of these blank Daily Review pages for future use.)

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

I was successful when I _____

*“All there is to do at any given time is to say:
‘Where am I? Where do
I want to go?’ Then do whatever it takes to move you there.”*

Daily Review
Meditation
(continued)

“At the end of the day we want to harvest the wisdom and insights from a higher source about how we can do it better; how we can keep improving so we move toward the evolution and growth we want.”

Record times when you were out of alignment with your purpose, intentions, or preferred way of being.

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

I was out of alignment when I _____

Daily Review
Meditation
(continued)

Record ways in which you could have been more effective in being who you are or creating what you want:

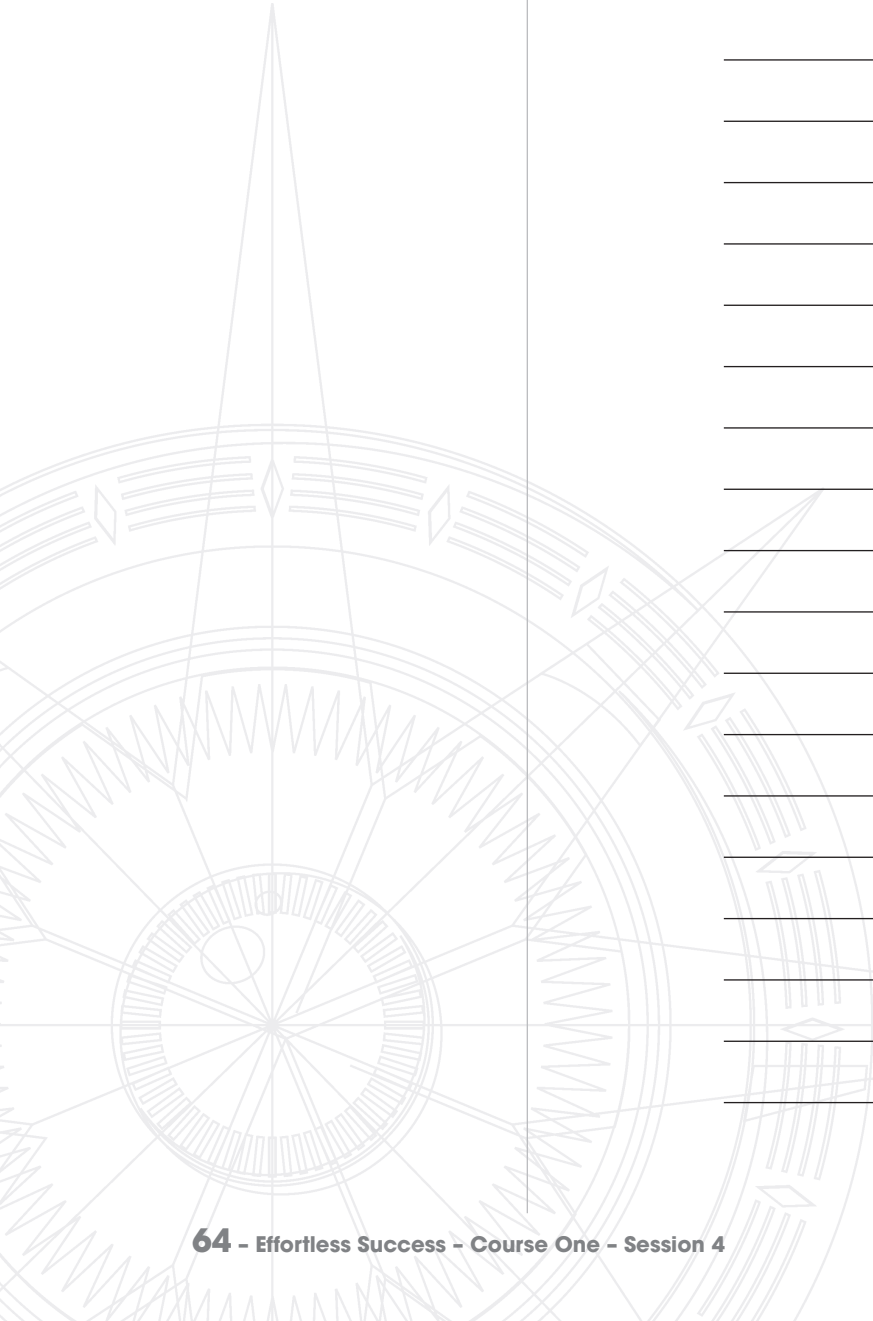

I could have been more effective if I had _____

I could have been more effective if I had _____

I could have been more effective if I had _____

Looking back on the day's experience, I perceive the following uplifting thought or insight (in words or images):

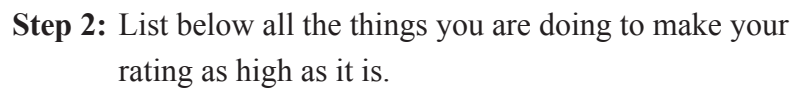

"You could say to your unconscious, please show me where I could have been more effective today. Or you could say, please show me where I could have been more conscious or more loving or more assertive or patient or whatever quality you're working on bringing more of into your life."

CD 4, Track 4

Adopt Paul Z. Jackson and Mark McKergow's rating technique:

Solutions Focus Scale

[illegible]

Exercise

CD 4, Track 4

*“Have you ever decided:
I don’t really feel like washing all the dishes tonight and cleaning up the kitchen, but I’ll just do the silverware or just the glasses? And the next thing you know you’ve not only done the glasses, you’ve done the dishes,
the pots, and pans; you’ve wiped down the counter, and you’re reaching for the broom?”*

MTO Approach

Raymond Aaron suggests setting goals at three different levels:
Minimum, Target, and Outrageous (MTO).

Select one of your 101 dreams and write it below:

☐ Identify the minimum level of goal achievement:

☐ Identify a target level of goal achievement:

☐ Identify an outrageous level of goal achievement:

Exercise
CD 4, Track 6

20 Things I Love To Do

Use the numbered lines below to record twenty things you love to do. Then brainstorm five ways to make money doing each of the twenty things, and record the best idea for each one in the space indicated below.

1) I love to _____

Make money by _____

2) I love to _____

Make money by _____

3) I love to _____

Make money by _____

4) I love to _____

Make money by _____

5) I love to _____

Make money by _____

6) I love to _____

Make money by _____

20 Things I Love To Do
(continued)

7) I love to _____

Make money by _____

8) I love to _____

Make money by _____

9) I love to _____

Make money by _____

10) I love to _____

Make money by _____

11) I love to _____

Make money by _____

12) I love to _____

Make money by _____

13) I love to _____

Make money by _____

20 Things I Love To Do
(continued)

14) I love to _____

Make money by _____

15) I love to _____

Make money by _____

16) I love to _____

Make money by _____

17) I love to _____

Make money by _____

18) I love to _____

Make money by _____

19) I love to _____

Make money by _____

20) I love to _____

Make money by _____

Jack's Daily Disciplines

In the audio session titled Q/A: Effortless Success Basics (Course One, CD 6), Jack summarizes the disciplines he has followed on a daily basis as his life evolved and expanded beyond his wildest expectations. They include:

- 1) Combine the Creating Your Day experience with the visualization of goals; release any negative reactions that come up.
- 2) Surround yourself with external images that keep you focused on your desires and goals.
- 3) Think a better feeling thought that accesses the possibilities behind what you are currently doing. If necessary, move your emotions up the emotional scale.
- 4) Maintain an attitude of gratitude (see the Express Gratitude exercise on Page 110 of this manual) by taking a few moments to focus on those things in your life you are grateful for.
- 5) Take action every single day on something that will move you toward your goals.
- 6) Acknowledge what is working during your review in the evening, and track your successes in a Victory Log.

Doing these exercises daily will keep you motivated and moving forward as the process unfolds and the momentum builds. Here are Jack's specific routines:

Morning (1 hour)

- Express gratitude
- Creating Your Day Meditation
- Visualize goals
- Physical exercise and stretching
- Reading

Evening (15 to 20 minutes)

- Evening Review exercise
- Gratitude exercise
- Visualize goals
- Plan next day's schedule

Summary

Experiencing Growth

Follow the joy

Follow your passions and you will more easily create the life of your dreams. According to the Law of Least Effort, what you want to do most in life, the thing that will bring you the greatest joy and fulfillment—and the greatest payoff—will not feel like work at all.

Follow the inner coach, not the critic

Imagine what you could do if you could transform your inner critic to an inner coach. The critic is living in the past, pointing to your faults and judging you for actions you took in the past. The coach is living in the present and recognizes you cannot change the past. You can only change what you are doing in the present moment to produce a more effective and fulfilling future. Your inner coach is on your side. Instead of beating you up about the past, the coach says, “Look, I noticed this.” Then the coach encourages you and says, “Go out there and do it!”

Focus on solutions, not problems

The Law of Attraction says you get more of what you focus on. You get more of what you talk about, think about, feel strongly about, attend to, or put your energy toward. Focusing on a problem is like driving down a road and encountering a big rock right in the middle. You get out of your car and try pushing the rock aside, getting upset that it’s there and screaming to God, “Why did you put this rock in my road?!” Sometimes it’s as easy as saying, “Wait a second. Three feet to the right there is no rock.”

Moving Forward

Prepare to Explore

To gain full benefit from Course One, remember to listen to your Paraliminal, the Fast Finish CDs, and the Effortless Success Meditations (Course Two, CD 6). For extra inspiration and guidance on living the Law of Attraction, listen to the Q/A: Effortless Success Basics CD.

The next course—Integrating the Law of Attraction—invites you to explore four pathways: expanding the self, integrating guidance, empowering intention, and accessing will. These will drive your practice of the Law of Attraction to a whole new level.